DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 16-29 are pending.
2. Claims 1-15 have been canceled.
3. Claims 16-29 have been added.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 16-19, drawn to defining and automating service recovery and transactional behavior of a software service using a graphical user interface, classified in Class 717, Subclass 105.
  - II. Claims 20-28, drawn to creating and tracking a context for a composite software service, classified in Class 717, Subclass 121.
  - III. Claim 29, drawn to executing predefined transactional and recovery behavior, classified in Class 707, Subclass 202.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

5. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination, respectively. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (II) as claimed because the combination (I) does not rely upon the specific details of the subcombination (II) for patentability, such as, inter alia, the limitations of tracking a context of the composite software service and associating a unique ID for each of the embedded software services. The subcombination (II) has separate utility such as tracking the states of execution of software services.

6. Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination, respectively.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (I) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (III) as claimed because the combination (I) does not rely upon the specific details of the subcombination (III) for patentability, such as, inter alia, the limitations of issuing a commit call if an embedded software service is consumed successfully and issuing a rollback call if an embedded software service is not consumed successfully. The subcombination (III) has separate utility such as recovery of data in the event of a fault.

7. Inventions II and III are related as subcombination and combination, respectively.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination (III) as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination (II) as claimed because the combination (III) does not rely upon the specific details of the subcombination (II) for patentability, such as, inter alia, the limitations of tracking a context of the composite software service and associating a unique ID for each of the embedded software services. The subcombination (II) has separate utility such as tracking the states of execution of software services.

8. The Examiner has required restriction between combination and subcombination inventions. Where Applicant elects a subcombination, and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a). Applicant is advised that if any claim presented in a continuation or divisional application is anticipated by, or includes all the limitations of, a claim that is allowable in the present application, such claim may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application.

9. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the Examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

11. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Art Unit: 2191

12. Should Applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, Applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the Examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

13. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
